

Conclusion

A Combination, Not a Single Cause

- No single factor explains QuietComfort's success — the four CIM areas reinforced one another
- Persistent sponsorship and specialist expertise made development possible (Amar Bose, Dan Gauger, Roman Sapiejewski)
- The product had to become comfortable, practical, and affordable — not just technically effective
- Customers needed a channel to experience and buy it — aviation trials → airline exposure → retail
- Entrepreneurship was the thread connecting research, engineering, product, and market across the case

